Foreword

The name of this yearbook, THE TOPPER, has many meanings.

It is, first of all, a tribute to C. A. Pederson, "Top," who is retiring this year as Superintendent of our school. We wish to show the respect and friendship we feel toward him by naming our yearbook in his honor.

As seniors we have "topped" the ladder of our grade and high school careers. We hope that, having reached this twelfth step, we are truly "Toppers" in character and learning.

"The Topper" not only signifies and reminds us of the steps now behind us, but it also presents a challenge to each of us to continue climbing, humbly yet unafraid, with integrity and clearness of purpose until we reach our goals.

To the Class of 1953

The Alumni congratulate you on your thoughtful and wise decision to dedicate the yearbook to Mr. Pederson. Perhaps he will know thereby how much all of us value and esteem his contributions to Montevideo Schools and to our individual lives.

The tangible satisfactions of anyone engaged in educational activities are few and meager. The best way we can assure Top of our personal appreciation for his tireless efforts is to reflect in our own day-to-day living the high standards and unselfishness he exemplifies.

Top brought to us sincerity of purpose, integrity of action and a warmth of spirit which combine to make him a respected leader in all circles of the community. His depth of human understanding makes it possible for all to seek his counsel and friendship.

With the admiration, respect and best wishes of all alumni,

Sincerely,
Myles L. Mace

Webb, Ree, Tostenson

Class Of 1954

The junior class meeting is called to order every Friday morning by Pat Webb, class president. In case of his absence, Kenneth Tostenson is there to conduct the meeting. Shirley Ree was elected to act as secretary and treasurer. The representatives from the class on the student council are Roberta Enger and Gary Glomstad.

The juniors have representatives in nearly every organization in school. Some of the groups in which they are the most active are band, orchestra, mixed chorus, girls glee club, speech, athletics, F. F. A., G. A. A., and ushers club.

Working hard to earn money for their prom, they had charge of concessions at ball games during the year.

According to high school custom nearly every junior became the proud possessor of a class ring.

The hard working class advisers are Svert Borsgard, chairman, Myrene Ronshaugen, Milton Gulsvig, Floyd Arnold, and Lyle Benson.

There are 117 members of the class of 1954. Miss Olson, Mr. Larson, Mr. Collison and Mr. Maursetter were the class advisers.

Decorating for the baccalaureate and commencement exercises, selling refreshments, and serving as waiters and waitresses at the Junior Senior Prom were some of the most important duties given to the sophomores.

The class was well represented in band, orchestra, pep band, mixed chorus, glee club, ensembles, rifle club, G. A. A., F. F. A., football, basketball, and other extra curricular activities.

Among the football cheerleaders were two sophomore girls, Pam Claggett and Susan Weber. Pam was also elected for the basketball season.

Junior High

The Montevideo Junior High consists of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. The seventh and eighth grades are divided into three home rooms, each with one adviser and its own officers. The freshman class is organized the same as the senior high classes with four advisers and class officers. In the junior high there are 169 girls and 188 boys.

The 7 1's have Miss Canon as adviser. Their officers are: president, Victor Moose; vice-president, Fred Koopman; secretary, Stanley Knutson; treasurer, David Mohn. During the year they had quiz programs and plays during their home room periods. The students told about their hobbies. They also had discussions on their travels illustrated with pictures and souvenirs.

Mr. Ellason is the adviser of the 7 2's. Grace Gallagher is their president; Catherine Anderson, their vice-president; and Patty Eld, their secretary-treasurer. During their meetings they have seen movies and have listened to tape recordings. Certain groups have put on programs of plays and vocal numbers.

The 7 3's have Miss Miller as adviser. The officers are: president, Gregory Tweet; vice-president, Patty Vogt; secretary treasurer, Judy Wik. This group has seen movies, listened to records and tape recordings. Special holidays have been observed by programs given by the students.

The adviser of the 8 1's is Miss Audreen Anderson. Ronald Pray is their president and Gwen Standring, their secretary-treasurer. At their meetings they discuss problems and play games.

Miss Haukeness is adviser for the 8 2 home room. Its officers are: president, Judy Sturnick; vice-president, Neil Carlson; secretary treasurer, Karen Mohn. The home room period is used for playing games and presenting skits.

Mr. Holten is adviser for the 8 3's; Mary Sletten is president; Sharon Maus vice-president; and Lowell Gemsey is secretary-treasurer. The class members present skits and play games during the home room period.

Every Wednesday morning the freshmen have their class meeting. Tim Ondahl is president; Tim Hunt is vice-president; and David Holm is secretary-treasurer. Mr. Sowle is chairman of the class advisers. Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Stal assist him.

Junior high students have an active interest in many extra-curricular activities. Band, orchestra, chorus, Junior G. A. A., basketball, football, track, journalism, and speech are some.

In the band there are 22 junior high students, and in orchestra there are nine. Of the Junior High Chorus's 97 members, 37 are boys and 60 are girls. Boys meet Mondays and Fridays and girls, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

A year ago Junior G. A. A. was started for junior high girls. The membership went up from last year by 25 to 30 members. They now have 70 to 80 members. Their officers are: Sally Keintz, president; Jeanie Johnson, vice-president; Karen Standring, secretary; and Nancy Farber, treasurer. Junior G. A. A. meets on Tuesdays from 4:00 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. Dues are 20c per semester. Initiation is in the spring. Points are awarded during the year with extra points given for special jobs. Awards are as follows: 250 points, a G. A. A. emblem; 750 points, an "M"; 1,000 points, a large emblem.

Mr. Sowle coached the freshmen boys for football and Mr. Arnold and Mr. Gulsvig had the 7th and 8th grades. The boys under Mr. Arnold and Mr. Gulsvig were divided into four teams.

Mr. Sowle coached 22 boys on the seventh grade basketball team. Mr. Arnold 29 eighth grade boys and Mr. Gulsvig the 25 freshmen.

The junior high had for the first time its own newspaper. The Mohawk Messenger is a four page paper that is printed each six weeks. Miss Miller was adviser of the staff of 22 students headed by editors Philip Roe and Kay Lorans.

The junior high selected cheerleaders for the "B" basketball games. They were Ronald Knutson, Loren Herrlich, Darrel Bofferding, Mary Sletten, and Glennis Haugerud.

The Student Council brings all the Junior High classes together. This body is composed of representatives from each class. The council selects dates for class parties and discusses problems and activities of the junior high. They help organize Junior Red Cross and select movies for the home rooms. They also decorate the Christmas tree in the lower hall. Miss Edna Johnson is adviser. The officers for the council are: president, Delbert McClure; vice-president, Peter Hemstad; and secretary-treasurer, Jeanie Johnson, all from grade nine. Other members are: seventh grade—Elaine Moe, John Beltz, Kay Perkins; eighth grade—Shirley Johnson, Darrel Groothuis, Margaret Claggett; ninth grade—Gail Sederstrom.

During the first week of November the Junior Red Cross drive was held to which the junior high gave $29.83; the seventh grade contributed $9.38, the eighth grade $8.05 and the ninth grade $7.20.

In this school year there have been many good junior high parties.

Stage Crew

When a lyceum, class play, assembly or any other school function is to take place, Mr. Len Brown calls on his "Nine Little Helpers," and presto—the crew goes into action.

The stage crew elects its own officers and establishes its own rules. This year the manager was Kenneth Thomton, and the assistant manager was Donald Zaiser.

Each fall, the seniors and juniors on the crew elect three sophomores to fill the places of the graduates.

Camera Club

The Camera Club, a new organization in Monte High, was organized by Mr. Larson for all those interested in photography. One of its objectives is to take pictures of school life—parties, games, and other high school events. Many of the pictures are posted in the show cases and can also be seen in the Montevidean and Yearbook. Through the sale of these pictures the Camera Club earns the money for its necessary equipment.

The officers of the club are president, Tom Neslund; vice-president, Curtis Poirier; and secretary-treasurer, Ethel Gottschalk.

Almost every student has seen films shown by one of the projectionists from Mr. Hakel's Projection Club. The club has charge of showing films to regular classes, general assemblies, and to civic groups.

The 16 mm. films are shown in the projection room, room 107, nearly every hour of the day; sometimes as many as three classes view a movie in an hour. Between 350 and 400 films are shown each school year.

Band

The Montevideo High School Band is under the direction of Mr. Ralph S. Forde. This is one of the most active organizations in our school.

The band, composed of sixty-five students, participated in the homecoming festivities, Christmas program, Armistice Day program, and numerous other school and community events.

For the first time this year, the band and orchestra have presented two pop concerts. This was a new idea which received a great deal of interest from the crowds who attended.

The Spring Festival is the biggest event of the school year for the band. Our band and other bands of the district are given a rating by a professional critic at this time.

The pep band is the force behind the spirit of the students at the football and basketball games. We would be lost without the band at the pep fests, too.

The pep band is composed the more experienced players of the band.

Twirlers

The twirlers were active during the football season when they led the band at several games and at the homecoming game. During the summer whenever the city band marches, the twirlers step jauntily out before them, twirling batons and adding to the spirit of the occasion.

The majorette is Carol Swanson; the head twirler is Pam Claggett; the other twirlers are Heather Claggett, Beverly Bennett, Marion Brown, Marilyn Brown, and Judy Paulson.

Declamation

Probably one of the most useful extra-curricular activities Monte students can participate in is speech. Judging from the large turnout this year, more and more students are realizing the importance of speech in every day living.

Original oratory, memorized oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and discussion are all under the direction of Miss Ruth Westrom. Miss Helen Olson is in charge of the humorous, manuscript, and dramatic divisions. Besides these, a new division has been added this year, the one-act play. JoAnn D. Harding, Gary Glomstad, and Pat Webb took part this year in presenting an act from the junior class play, "Our Town."

The local speech contest was held on March 2. The program opened with a discussion on the topic, "How can we, as a nation, improve our ethical and moral conduct?" Phyllis Kief won in this division. The following were the winners in the other six divisions: Pat Moe, extemporaneous; Alice Wallen, memorized oratory; Charlotte Roe, original oratory; Bette Stark, humorous; Carol Swanson, manuscript; and Heather Claggett, dramatic. These seven girls took part in the district contest held at Clarkfield on March 9. Charlotte Roe received a superior rating at this contest, which enabled her to continue on into the regional contest which was held here in Montevideo on March 25.

Debate

Debate has always been the favorite activity for those students who love to argue. The topic for this year was: Resolved that the NATO nations should form a federal union.

There were eight students who tried out for debate this year. The following four were chosen as the tournament debaters: Rosemary Tweet and Phyllis Kief on the affirmative team; Barbara Rodeberg and Janis M. Peterson on the negative team.

Probably the big event for the debaters this year was the Northwest Speech Meet which they attended at Gustavus Adolphus College.

Again this year the debaters went on to the regional contest at New Ulm. They got up to the finals where they were paired against New Ulm. New Ulm won in a very close decision.

Football

Starting with a nucleus of ten returning letterman and some thirty football candidates, a new coaching staff molded a smooth functioning Mohawk eleven to send onto the gridiron for the 1952 season. Coach Collison presented the "T" formation which was particularly well adapted to our backfield.

In the opening game Canby invaded Monte and was defeated 13-0. The following week Monte found little trouble in subduing their West Central Conference opponent, Glenwood, 26-0. In our next game, with Granite, we came so close to winning that we could reach out and touch it. The only gratifying factor was the fact that we didn't lose to this mortal enemy. The game ended in a 6-6 tie. Our first loss was at the hands of the Willmar Cardinals 13-0. The Mohawks bounced back the next week and defeated the Appleton Aces 39-12. The next game, with Litchfield, was the homecoming contest. We lost to this classy outfit 25-12. Taking revenge on Benson, the Mohawk eleven pushed around the field for a final score of 20-0. The traditional hard struggle with Marshall was played at Windom Field. Without the aid of Thornton's running attack, Monte lost this one 14-6.

Coach Collison announced the lettermen at the annual football banquet. The seniors who had earned letters were Don Zaiser (captain), Norman Buelow, Charles Fritts, Marty Hemstad, Carl Osteno, Cleon Ost, Harlan Sandbakken, and Kenny Thornton. The juniors were Robert Heideman, John Kutzik, Don Minnick, Charles Porter, Dean Rodeberg, Lester Roudebush, Dick Ryman, Larry Schei, Ronald Schultz, and Ken Tostenson. One sophomore, Roger Paulson, and one freshman, Ronald Ree, complete the list of football lettermen for 1952. These lettermen elected John Kutzik, Charles Porter, and Dick Ryman 1953 football captains.

We are especially proud of Cleon Ost, who was named end, and Kenny Thornton, who was named back on the all-conference first team, and of Charles Fritts, who was named tackle on the second team.

Basketball

Montevideo drew Milan in the first district game and won. The victory entitled the Aces to play a second tournament game with Appleton. The gallant Mohawks seemed to turn their noses down on the fact that Appleton had twice defeated them during the regular season. It was a battle down to the wire, with the Aces finally coming out victorious in the sudden death second overtime, 61-62. Granite Falls went on to the district and the regional tournaments, and was a fine representative from our district in the state

Track 1952

The 1952 track season opened with Montevideo easily winning the West Central Conference trophy by scoring 72 points to second place Litchfield's 49 points.

We met Willmar in a dual meet with the Mohawks winning 97-87. Montevideo, Appleton, and Madison then held a triangular meet in which Monte took first place with 119 points and Madison took second place with 50½ points.

The next meet in which Mr. Arnold's boys participated was the district meet. We captured the district crown again with 77 and one-sixth points while Madison took second with 37½ points.

The first two boys winning each event in the district attended the regional meet where Montevideo took second place to Marshall. Tom Weisbrod and Carl Ostenso won first place in their events in the regional and thereby became eligible to take part in the state meet.

Junior Class Play 1951

CLASS

Well, here we are at the top. We've reached the twelfth step of the ladder. Someone suggested that we take a quick trip down the ladder and climb it once more to review the memorable events of our school days.

The first step was marked by events that most of us will never forget. The first day Cleon Ost came to school he sat in a corner and cried because he was so scared. When Sibley School put on the operetta, "Hansel and Gretel," some of us were the little cookies. We can remember when we were on the program for Mothers' Club. Those were the days, we thought, when the teachers would tell on us to our mothers. Our picnics at the end of the year were eagerly anticipated and were really fun.

In the second grade Ardie got a real laugh from the audience when she recited her piece at the Christmas program and added her own laugh every few minutes. Eddie's romantic moment arrived when John Andersen presented her with a little doll for Valentine's Day.

On the third step Pat Moe asserted herself. It was the time she hit Bob Solheim over the head with her tablet just as the teacher walked into the scene. Little Patsy was taken into the hall. This was the year she had her appendix out, too. The whole class wrote letters to cheer her.

Operettas and dances were big events, too. "Polly Make Believe" has fond memories for the Sibley group while the May Dances on the Hillcrest lawn linger in the minds of Hillcrest students.

It was during our fourth year that Hillcrest bulged at the seams and Janet and Beverly brought paper sacks to carry their worldly possessions—books, crayons, pencils, etc.—to Central. Kenny decided to get rid of his appendix this year.

Barb Farber made a hit in the fifth grade, not only with the kids, but also with the kittenball bat. The teams in the fifth grade were quite evenly matched until Barb moved to Monte. We kids would stand with our mouths open, marveling at the distance she could slug that ball.

Charlotte remembers the huge valentine from DeLane with the message, "I love you." Every Friday officers were elected for a week's duty in the classroom. They would erase boards, check desks to see if they were orderly, etc. Some would find an excuse to stay after school just to see the teacher's husband come to get her.

History

While in the sixth grade, Laurie An had a party with all the girls wearing formals. Miss Benson's room put on the "Ladies Aid Society." The Hallowe'en party was a big event as we marched from room to room to show off our costumes. Remember the Christmas parties when we could spend only ten cents for a gift? The last few days before the party were really exciting as our eyes tried to guess what our packages contained. Inger will never forget the box of candy she got from John Andersen on Valentine's Day, nor will Barb forget the corsage from John. Inger still thinks she had the better deal!

We impatiently waited for our first day in the seventh grade. Now we would go from class to class instead of staying in one room all day. By the way we dashed down halls and plowed through crowds, we must have thought the three minutes between classes were three seconds. Mr. Hoffman tried to remedy this by having a Black List with punishment dealt out at the next home room meeting.

Lockers were another new experience for us. It was great sport for some to see how many combinations they could learn.

This was also the beginning of class parties. How exciting it was to play "Wink 'Em." Margaret Wik and Kathy Skrukrud can remember that they still had to wear long brown cotton stockings. Inger Berg, Janet Jarvis, and Ruby Iverson recall the play, "The Ring and the Look," in which they acted.

The next rung of the ladder saw Charlotte Roe entering the state-wide spelling contest at Minneapolis after winning in the local contest. The boys really enjoyed the eighth grade parties when they learned square dancing. That was the year Margaret Wik and Kathy Skrukrud were ladies-in-waiting in an operetta put on at the Watson School. Margaret was also caught playing cards in school. The result was a blackboard filled with the solemn inscription, "I will not play cards." Some of those who spent their first eight years in a country school were Cleon Ost, Patsy Lanes, Loren Bogan, Loretta Bergo and Lowell Birhanzl. They remember rushing to school in the morning to play ball. When the bell rang they would find their seats and sing, "Little Ducky Duddle." Cleon used to beat up Patsy and Loretta whenever he got the urge. Hallowe'en meant a horror show in the school basement. Christmas was highlighted by a play and the year ended with a picnic.

The great event of the picnic was a kittenball game between the kids and the fathers. The fathers were usually polite enough to let the kids win.

Sharyn Gallagher and Donna Person were two more country school kids. They delighted in getting permission to leave the room and standing near the ventilating pipe to hear what the teacher was saying. This sport didn't last long; they were soon discovered. They were the only two girls in their school and hated the boys, or so they say now.

As we approached the freshman year we all said, "This is the beginning of the four best years of my life." We had started to grow up.

Every Wednesday morning Inger Berg, our able freshman president, shouted, "The meeting will please come to order!" Ardie, Diane, and Ardell were elected junior high cheerleaders. They wore little purple circular skirts with white sweaters, and had gold bows in their hair.

The Penguin saw us every Friday and Saturday night hopping around the dance floor, playing cards, or playing the old tumble down piano. Each one of us carries some cherished memory of the old dilapidated Penguin. Our first Sadie Hawkins' Day party was held there. What a crowd and what fun! The juke served its purpose well that night.

At the freshman party some of the boys had the courage to take some of the girls. It was raining that night and the girls worried about their hair, until their nervous dates drove up proudly with the family cars. When they got to the party the boys played cards and the girls danced.

Parties and more parties filled our sophomore year. The Homecoming Dance was a big event because it was our first one. Charlotte and Pat were chosen as queen candidates and the big job of campaigning was on. Committees combined work and fun at the poster making parties. We had class parties and group parties. Barb had a birthday party at the creamery hall. Paul Hanson had a New Year's party followed by a midnight show. The evening ended at Barb's in the early morning hours. Laurie An's Christmas party was another memorable affair. "Wink 'Em" was just as much fun as it had been in the seventh grade.

The Penguin was re-named the Stu-ner and moved up

DeLane, our class president, did much to keep the Stu-ner going. The one big dance most of us remember was the square dance which was a crowded affair.

With the junior-senior prom came the call for waitresses and coke girls and boys. It was a big evening for us. Another privilege we had that year was decorating for baccalaureate and commencement.

Our junior year was packed with activity. There was the day we got our class rings about a week after Christmas. Our class play, "Jane Eyre," in which Charlotte and DeLane took the leads, was another highlight. Play practice days were packed full of memories worth more to us than gold or silver. Parties were still important—Christmas parties, New Year's Eve party, and just parties. Some of the girls were snowbound three days in the cities. The youth center was now at the creamery hall. We lost three of our classmates, Kathy Skrukrud to Cokato, Don J. Arneson to Colorado, and Ginny Anderson to Glenwood.

The prom and banquet were the culmination of our activities. All year we planned and prepared for the affair. We earned much of the money at games; our president, Charles Fritts, chose committees and more committees; and we worked hard at the job of decorating for the "Evening in Paris." Inger, accompanied by Jules Herman and his orchestra, sang "I'll Build a Starway to Paradise." It was an evening that we will never forget.

And here we are on the twelfth rung of the ladder! We are still having our good times. Laurie An had her annual Christmas party, the Student Council put on a Holiday party and a Valentine's party. The music departments had a pop concert to raise money for bleachers for the band. President Tom Neslund called the class meetings to order every Friday morning and our secretary, Patsy Lanes, read her minutes. We chose our queen candidates for the last time and Karen Eidem graced Homecoming as our queen.

Don Moline's dance band furnished the music for the dance which followed the game. Charlotte and Barbara led our class as valedictorian and salutatorian. We know we are nearing the end of our year as we order announcement cards, pictures, and robes. We gaze about a bit unsteadily as we stand on this twelfth rung before we continue to climb. We hope it will be a climb to a successful and useful career—a life of worthy living.
